Creating a workplace destination

Friday 23rd July 2021
9.00 - 10.00am

Since the global pandemic, many things will never be the same again and the way that we think about the workplace has changed forever.

Offices can no longer just be places to come to work every day but will become destinations that are both dynamic and creative, focused on the wellbeing of staff, and high-quality collaborative engagements.

Saxon Weald Housing Association has just undertaken the journey to create a brand new workplace. On this webinar, you will hear them discuss their experiences, understand the business benefits and find out why your success depends on creating a workplace that reflects your culture, attracts the best talent, and gives staff an exceptional experience.

We will be running a fully interactive Q & A and discussing the results live, giving you a better understanding of the challenges that companies are facing right now.
